Portfolio Update

Equity markets delivered strong gains in February. The effects of policymaking appeared, temporarily at least, to have been sufficient to counteract the debt-related challenges facing much of the developed world. Positive Fund performance was attributable principally to strong stock selection in the technology sector. Holdings in the consumer staples, industrial, energy and telecommunications sectors were also favourable.

The portfolio adviser continues to see the best risk-adjusted opportunities among the equity of high-quality businesses operating in the more stable market sectors, which have greater scope to grow regardless of the broader macroeconomic backdrop.

Summary Fund Objective
